

DSV to open new logistics facility in New Jersey, USA

Having opened its first US warehouse on the West Coast last year, DSV can now announce the opening of a new contract logistics facility in Edison, New Jersey.

Strategically located

The new 10,000 square meter distribution centre will offer a wide range of logistics services. Among the facility's first customers are a number of European retailers who are currently launching or expanding their activities in the USA.

The New Jersey warehouse is strategically located with respect to the existing facility in Fontana, California, in order to offer improved order lead times for East Coast deliveries.

Piet Mulders, President of DSV Solutions USA, explains: "Our facilities are positioned to complement each other and help us cover a wider geographic remit in North America."

Together, these two DSV facilities reinforce the company's existing network of 26 locations in the USA: the warehouse in Fontana serves as a major point of entry to the North American market for Asian-sourced products, while the facility in Edison provides an excellent gateway for products imported from Europe.

Organic growth

DSV is steadily realizing its ambition to further extend its market coverage through organic growth by following customers as they move into new markets.

As a result of being an integral part of their supply chain for years, our customers prefer to rely on DSV, our people, processes and systems, to facilitate their market expansion rather than selecting an unknown local provider in a new country," Brian Ejsing, CEO of DSV Solutions comments.

He confirms that DSV's strong ties with its customer base, notably in Europe and Asia, represent an enormous source of growth potential in the USA.

Freight management

In the USA, DSV is primarily focused on freight management services and contract logistics, capitalizing on the excellent US network of distribution providers with complementary delivery services and areas.

Due to its scale of operation, DSV is able to pass on discounts and excellent distribution rates secured in global contract negotiations to individual customers.

In the USA, DSV employs approx. 725 people across 28 facilities. For more information on DSV in the US, please visit: www.us.dsv.com
