AMERICAN AIRLINES CARGO RESUMES SERVICE TO DUBLIN AND HELSINKI THIS SUMMER

FORT WORTH, Texas: American Airlines Cargo is re-commencing its popular, daily, non-stop service from Dublin to Chicago from April 4th 2012. The flight will be operated on one of the carrier's B767-300 wide-bodied aircraft and will depart the Irish capital at 1000 hours every day, arriving in Chicago at 12.20. The morning departure is ideal for important cargo shipments and will arrive in the US hub where it can meet onward connecting services across North, Central and South America.

And, on June 14th the carrier will resume daily services between Chicago and the Finnish capital, Helsinki. Operating non-stop and utilising a B767-300 aircraft, the service from Vantaa airport will also offer truck-feeder services to Amsterdam, Stockholm Arlanda, Gothenburg, Malmo and London Heathrow five days a week; with inbound feeder service from ARN, GOT and MMA.

Commenting on the service resummptions, AA Cargo's Managing Director, Cargo Sales and Marketing EMEA, Tristan Koch says: "Both these destinations are welcome additions to our summer timetable. They have previously been well-supported cargo destinations out of Europe as they are ideal for moving both pharmaceutical and electronics products, both of which are major commodities from these countries into the US and beyond via our network. Our Expedite and Expedite TC services are available to customers using both services. Our commitment to these destinations is shown by their addition to our summer schedule".

In Ireland, AA Cargo is represented by IAM, under Managing Director Ian McCool. In Helsinki, North Air Logistics acts as GSA for the country under General Manager Nette Rohde-Nielsen.
